

BLACK-HAND BOMB WRECKS BIG EAST- SIDE TENEMENT

For Second Time in Month
House Owned by Spinelli
Has Been Shattered.

TEN FAMILIES IN PERIL.

Police Seem Unable to Run
Down the Band of Dynamiters.

The blackmalle gang that has been threatening Francesco Spinelli with various forms of annihilation for six weeks past, dynamited one of his tenements at No. 316 East Eleventh street to-day, endangering the lives of ten families and slightly injuring a half-dozen tenants. The adjoining tenement at No. 314, also owned by Spinelli, was shattered by a bomb on May 30 last, and the police have made no progress at all in running down the dynamiters. At exactly the same hour and in a manner that corresponded in every detail with the former dynamiting, the entire lower floor of the Eleventh street tenement was wrecked at 7:50 o'clock this morning, creating a panic throughout the entire block and precipitating a riot which the reserves from the Fifth street station had all they could do to put down.

Spinelli Drew a Gun.
Spinelli himself was largely responsible for the riot, starting it by drawing a gun on two newspaper photographers. Spinelli lives with his brother and wife at No. 321 East Eleventh street, another tenement which he owns, and when he heard the bomb explosion he rushed out into the street and ran about like a madman. The entire neighborhood seemed to go mad with him, for the tenants on the block have been in a state of nervous tension ever since the Black Hand letters began to pour in on the Spinellis.

Bomb Under Stairway.
The bomb that exploded this morning was planted under the stairway and blew the entire structure out into the street, thereby cutting off that means of egress from the upper floors. It blew a hole through the wall dividing the hallway from the flat of Giovanni Furso by a passage big enough to drive a truck through, and buried Angelina Furso under a mound of debris. The young woman was sleeping at the time, and when the wall was hurled in on her was smothered into unconsciousness. She was revived, however, after her brother had dug her out and a surgeon had dressed her cuts and bruises.

Blown Into Back Yard.
Salvatore Genese, a boy of sixteen, who works in the little basement grocery in the house, was carrying up a crate of cherries when the bomb went off. A window sash was blown out on him, and with it he was lifted into the middle of the street. A few minutes before the boy had seen a big, wide-shouldered man with crooping black mustaches shamble out of the place and sprint away in the direction of Second avenue. The boy gave Petrosino a good description of the man, and the chief of the official Black Hand hunters believes he knows who the person is.

All the tenants in the house were knocked flat by the concussion of the bomb, and when a great cloud of smoke and plaster dust rose through the building there was a mad scramble to get out. James Kulik, a tenant on the first floor, fell down the stairway in his blind rush to escape, but he managed to scramble up the first escape and bring down his wife and two children. All the other tenants left the building in the same manner, aided in their descent by the policemen who were rushed there from the Fifth street station.

Francisco Spinelli was arrested and taken to Police Headquarters charged with carrying concealed weapons. He had struck a policeman in the face with his fist, but no charge was made of that. He was forgiven for what he has suffered in the past month.

SUBURBAN HANDICAP SOUVENIR WORK OF ART.

A particularly attractive souvenir has been issued by Goodwin Bros. to commemorate the opening of the Coney Island Jockey Club's reconstructed track and the twenty-fifth, or silver, anniversary of the Suburban. Among the contents are the photographs of the twenty-four previous winners of this great event, together with an interesting resume of each race.

There are also some very beautiful pictures of the new grounds and buildings. The cover of this brochure is an elaborate affair of four colors. It represents the finish of the first Suburban in 1884, a large silver horse shoe on bar plate, of which is seated a jockey in the colors of the winner. They can be obtained on the trains and race course.
